Beauty is not the absence of appearance, but how we see it. It helps you feel better, not just, you need to be happy in yourself, not the beauty.
